

SCOTTY

(Scotty, the resident aide, tells ABBY the real reason she has been allowed to live alone in her room . . . until now.)

For the record, Charlie Hastings did not do you any favors. No. He was not pulling residents out of this room as a favor to you, he was doing it as a favor to them. There wasn't a single person placed in this room who didn't want out of it within a week. This may come as a shock, but apparently you're not the easiest person to live with. It's common knowledge. No one wanted to live with you. Charlie got so sick of the room change requests that he just stopped putting people in here. I did my best with Larusso, despite what you might think, but she made it clear --- not only will she not eject Marilyn from this room, she said it's my job to keep her here, because god knows if Marilyn does leave we may never be able to fill that bed again
